

SOCIETY OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE
ICI REPORT FOR DECEMBER 2021

(a) THE SBL ANNUAL MEETING 2022, DENVER, COLORADO

November 2022, Info TBA, Denver, Colorado, USA. Call for papers not yet open.

(b) THE SBL INTERNATIONAL MEETING 2022, SALZBURG

Call for papers is open.

<https://www.sbl-site.org/meetings/Internationalmeeting.aspx>

The upcoming 2022 SBL International Meeting will be held in Salzburg, Austria from July 17-21, 2022. We are excited for the opportunity to meet with international scholars again, for an in-person event. Although it is unusual for us to open housing a full year in advance of the International Meeting, a separate event that will be taking place in the city at the same time as our meeting makes it very important that we do so. The Salzburg Summer Festival is a large local event, which brings attendees to the city from all over the world. Because of the size of this event, we recommend that you secure housing for our meeting well in advance of the timeframe you would typically use. As such, we are pleased to announce that we have secured blocks of rooms at several nearby hotels. Please click here <https://na.eventscloud.com/ehome/623829/1132835/> for booking instructions and more information about the meeting.  We have also blocked a small number of student housing rooms, which will be available at a later date. **

Visa letters for travel to the Annual or International Meetings

In order to facilitate attendance by those in ICI countries at SBL Congresses, Samantha Spitzner has been appointed as the SBL visa coordinator. Samantha will advise members who need visas in order to travel to and participate in the Annual or International Meetings. She will not prepare applications, but will be a source of information to aid members in submitting applications and will provide letters of intent if needed by those participating in the meeting as presenters or committee members. For more information, please contact Samantha directly.

(c) SBL INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL AWARDS

The SBL International Travel Awards offer opportunities to current SBL members outside North America to attend the Annual or International Meeting, to participate in the program, to enhance their professional development, and to build their network with fellow scholars. These grants help facilitate the work of Program Units and the International Cooperation Initiative (“ICI”). These grants are intended to support underrepresented and underresourced scholars. As such, preference will be given to women, people of historically underrepresented ethnicities, and members from ICI-qualifying countries. A key criterion is an applicant’s demonstrable financial need.

(The Regional Scholars Awards are intended to encourage North American members to participate in their region as well as receive travel assistance to the Annual Meeting.)

Four International Travel Award Panels (ITAP) will administer the awards each year, serving four geographic regions:

- Africa and Middle East
- Asia and Pacific
- Eastern Europe
- Latin America and Caribbean

For awards offered in 2021, each ITAP will administer $3,000 in awards in each region. The panels may determine the best distribution of funds (e.g., as one $1000 and one $2000 award, or as three awards of $1000 each). The applicants must attend the Annual or International Meetings, but may or may not participate in the program, depending upon their needs expressed in the application.

Please see the SBL Meeting International Travel Grants page for information regarding eligibility, award inclusions, application procedure, and criteria for awards.

All grants include lodging (one room, single or shared) for four nights and complimentary meeting registration. Recipients may not have attended an Annual or International Meeting within the last five (5) years.

The International Travel Awards defray transportation, hotel accommodations, and other expenses incurred for the Annual or International Meetings. Award monies will be distributed as reimbursement for expenses incurred for travel to/from the meeting and meals while attending the meeting.

- Please contact the travel grant administrator with any questions.

Deadlines

The present Travel Grants Awards cycle is now open to applications through to 15 February, 2022.

(d) PUBLICATION IN ANCIENT NEAR EAST MONOGRAPHS (ANEM)

ANEM is a series that was established by the SBL at the request of the International Cooperation Initiative (ICI), jointly published with the Universidad Católica Argentina's Centro de Estudios de Historia del Antiguo Oriente (CEHAO) and co-edited by Jeffrey Stackert and Juan Manuel Tebes. The series publishes volumes on the Ancient Near East (including ancient Israel) both in print and electronically, making them freely available for download. Paperback and hardback versions of the volumes are available, for a reasonable price.

To view the volumes published in the series, please go to http://www.sbl-site.org/publications/Books_ANEmonographs.aspx (SBL English version)

<http://www.uca.edu.ar/anem> (CEHAO Spanish version)

The latest volume in ANEM:

NOEGEL, Scott B. Wordplay in Ancient Near Eastern Texts. Ancient Near East Monographs – Monografías sobre el Antiguo Oriente, Volume 26. Atlanta: SBL Press – Centro de Estudios del Antiguo Oriente, 2021, forthcoming. ISBN 9781628372939

The first comprehensive taxonomy of functions and types of “wordplay” in ancient Near Eastern texts.

This book from Scott B. Noegel offers a comparative, in-depth study of “wordplay” in ancient Near Eastern texts. Noegel establishes comprehensive taxonomies for the many kinds of devices that scholars label as wordplay and for their proposed functions. The consistent terminology Noegel proposes offers students and scholars of Sumerian, Akkadian, Egyptian, Ugaritic, Hebrew, and Aramaic a useful template for documenting and understanding the devices they discover. The book concludes by suggesting potential avenues for future research.

(e) PUBLICATION IN INTERNATIONAL VOICES IN BIBLICAL STUDIES (IVBS)

IVBS is a series that was established by the SBL at the request of the International Cooperation Initiative (ICI), and which is co-edited by Monica Melanchthon and Jione Havea. IVBS encourages in particular submissions from scholars in the present seven international regions for which it has editorial boards: Africa, Central and Eastern Europe, Latin America, Middle East-South Asia, Northeast Asia, Pacific, and Southeast Asia. Interregional collaborations are also welcome. IVBS publishes works in English and in any other language for which its editors can find qualified peer reviewers. Any work published in IVBS is freely available to anyone in perpetuity. The series publishes work generally in the area of reception history and criticism. The scope is not limited to any particular biblical text or historical timeframe. The works will mainly be published in English and, wherever possible, also in primary languages of authors. For more information please go to <http://ivbs.sbl-site.org/home.aspx>. If you would consider publishing your work in this series, feel free to contact one of the two general editors, Monica Melanchthon or Jione Havea.

The latest volume of IVBS:Welcoming the Nations: International Sociorhetorical ExplorationsVernon K. Robbins (Editor), Roy R. Jeal (Editor). IVBS 13. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2020. ISBN 9781628372991.

This volume celebrates and reflects upon sociorhetorical interpretation of the New Testament as developed by Vernon K. Robbins in The Tapestry of Early Christian Discourse (Routledge) and Exploring the Texture of Texts (Continuum), both published in 1996. Scholars from around the world take sociorhetorical interpretation into new arenas to approach issues arising from their own contexts, including the environment, gender, and economics. Part 1 focuses on the development and emergence of sociorhetorical interpretation. Part 2 presents particular applications of sociorhetorical interpretation in Australia and Oceania. Part 3 includes essays using sociorhetorical interpretation in Africa and Asia. The essays in this book point to the richness and ever-expanding possibilities for sociorhetorical commentary and the learning that enriches all of us.

Request! from Jione Havea on behalf of the IVBS Editorial Boardjhavea@gmail.com:

For several of the authors who publish with IVBS, English is a second, third, fourth and even fifth language. This applies also to several of the board members. The review and editing processes can be painful for the authors as well as the IVBS Editor.

Jione Havea has been requesting volunteers to assist with proofreading, copyediting, and typesetting manuscripts for authors who write in English as a second language.

Thank you to the volunteers who have responded to the call!

Heather McKay, John Goldingay, Eric Smith, Lynn Huber, Ian Atkinson, Ashraf Hanna, Brenna Salverson, Yan Kalampung, Erin Newton, Olubunmi A. Adegbola.

If you would still like to volunteer, please be in touch with Jione at the email address above.

(f) ICI ONLINE BOOK REPOSITORY

For a full alphabetic list of all publications available for free in the ICI book repository program, please go to:

http://www.sbl-site.org/publications/Books_ICIbooks.aspx

A number of volumes have been added to the repository! New additions include the following volumes:

DeCock, Miriam. Interpreting the Gospel of John in Antioch and Alexandria. Writings from the Greco-Roman World Supplement Series 17. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2020.

Miriam DeCock analyzes four important early Christian treatments of the Gospel of John, including commentaries by Origen and Cyril from the Alexandrian tradition and the homilies of John Chrysostom and the commentary of Theodore of Mopsuestia, which represent Antiochian traditions. DeCock maintains that the traditional distinction between nonliteral and literal interpretations in these two early Christian centers remains helpful despite recent challenges to the paradigm. She argues that a major and abiding distinction between the two schools lies in the manner in which Alexandrian and Antiochian authors apply the gospel text to their respective communities. DeCock demonstrates that the Antiochenes find primarily literal moral examples and doctrinal teachings in John's Gospel, whereas the Alexandrians find both these and nonliteral teachings concerning the immediate situation of the church and of its individual members.

Dever, William G. My Nine Lives: Sixty Years in Israeli and Biblical Archaeology. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2020.

This autobiography of prominent American archaeologist William G. Dever is unabashedly his story, in which he offers candid, often brutally honest, reflections on his life and sixty-five-year career. Dever places himself in the midst of a remarkable generation of giants in archaeology in Israel during a period when the fields of biblical and Israeli archaeology were evolving. With technical expertise developed over a lifetime of working alongside four generations of Israeli and foreign excavators, he recalls their exploits and shares numerous personal stories that few others would know. His memoir concludes with a postscript on the likely future of biblical archaeology and an annotated bibliography for serious readers who wish to explore some of the scholarly literature to flesh out Dever's narrative.

Henze, Matthias, and Rodney A. Werline eds. Early Judaism and Its Modern Interpreters. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2020.

This volume documents the major developments in the study of "early Judaism" (ca. 330 B.C.E. to ca. 138 C.E.) from about the mid-1940s. After a lengthy introduction that discusses the field itself and current interest in it, new tools and approaches, major topics and problems, and the types of study needed in the future, the bulk of the volume is organized into three sections. The first deals with "synthetic approaches" to the political, social, and religious history of the period. Part 2 focuses on the recent discoveries that have stimulated and enriched the renewed study of early Judaism. Part 3 surveys work on the literature of early Judaism organized according to different types (form and/or content) of material.

Lentz, Katharina. Crainte de Dieu, Sagesse et Loi: Aspects théologiques à partir de Si 10,19–11,6. Septuagint and Cognate Studies 72. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2020.

Few specific studies have been devoted to Ben Sira 10:19–11:6. Lentz examines the text in Hebrew, Greek, Syriac, and Latin, trying to identify the major differences between these versions and their respective fundamental orientations. In this pericope she reveals three important themes: the fear of God, wisdom, and the law. Taking as a point of departure the theme of the fear of God in Deuteronomy, Psalms, and Proverbs, Job, and Qoheleth, in addition to Ben Sira, Lentz examines the relationship of this theme with wisdom and the law. The close relationship between the fear of God, wisdom, and the law should lead scholars to ask if these do not represent three aspects of the same reality

Verde, Danilo. Conquered Conquerors: Love and War in the Song of Songs. Ancient Israel and Its Literature 41. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2020.

Although love transcends historical and cultural boundaries, its conceptualizations, linguistic expressions, and literary representations vary from culture to culture. In this study, Danilo Verde examines love through the military imagery found throughout the Song's eight chapters. Verde approaches the military metaphors, similes, and scenes of the Song using cognitive metaphor theory to explore the overlooked representation of love as war. Additionally, this book investigates how the Song conceptualizes both the male and the female characters, showing that the concepts of masculinity and femininity are tightly interconnected in the poem. Conquered Conquerors provides fresh insights into the Song's figurative language and the conceptualization of gender in biblical literature.

(g) PEDAGOGY AND TEACHING SUPPORT PEER BLOG FOR FRIENDS OF THE ICI

<https://internationalpedagogies.wordpress.com>

NEW POST AVAILABLE NOW, SUMAMRIZING THE SBL ICI PANDEMIC PEDAGOGIES SESSION!

Other entries are welcome on the topic of pedagogical learnings / teaching adaptations made during the ongoing pandemic. If you would also like to contribute to the Friends of the ICI International Pedagogies blog, please be in touch with Carmen Palmer.

(h) ICI TEACHING COLLABORATION PROGRAM

The Teaching Collaboration Program of SBL's International Cooperation Initiative was established a number of years ago to facilitate faculty cooperation, including exchange and co-supervision among scholars and institutions in different parts of the world.

ICI Scholar List: <https://www.sbl-site.org/educational/ICIScholarList.aspx>

These scholars have expressed an interest in mentoring students via the Internet, teaching online reading courses, or traveling abroad to teach [n.b., when the pandemic is over].

Individuals who need a mentor or institutions who are in need of teachers with a particular area of expertise may review the information provided to find those whose qualifications and time available match their needs. You are invited to contact any of these scholars directly. SBL is not responsible for making arrangements between institutions or students and scholars; SBL serves only as the host of the data so that the interested parties may identify and contact each other.

To be included in the Instructor's Database, please complete the form here <https://www.sbl-site.org/educational/ICIscholar.aspx>

(i) JOURNAL OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE (JBL) ARCHIVE

Take note that an archive with JBL articles from volume 122.1 of 2003 through volume 130.1 of 2011 is available online to people accessing the SBL website from any ICI country. See http://www.sbl-site.org/publications/ICI_JBLarchive.aspx. All articles in those volumes can be downloaded for free!

(j) THE SBL WEBSITE

The SBL website (on the SBL Press page) has a facility where one can search the full text of all SBL books! For this very convenient tool, see:

<http://sbl-site.org/publications/default.aspx>

For searching reviews of a vast number of academic publications, SBL's Review of Biblical Literature is now a part of the new SBL Central site, where you will find the 10,000+ book reviews that RBL has published since its initial launch in 1998.

<https://www.sblcentral.org/home>

Announcing Custom Book Notifications:

"SBL Central's book notifications alert you as soon as new books are added to the site and when new reviews are published. Not only are these alerts more timely, but they are also tailored to your specific interests: you receive notifications only for books and reviews tagged with the subjects that you select. To take advantage of this powerful new feature, go to SBL Central and Sign In using the button in the upper right corner. (SBL Central uses the same email address and password you use to log in at the main SBL website.) Once you are signed in, click on your name in the upper right corner to display a dropdown menu and select Manage Book Notifications. The Manage Book Notifications page displays a list of Available Subjects on the left and all your Selected Subjects on the right. Subjects are arranged into two broad groups, Methods and Texts, each of which contains multiple subsets. Methods, for example, contains the subsets Archaeology and Iconography, Comparative Religion/History of Religion, Epigraphy and Paleography, History and Culture, and so on. Each subset contains a list of specific subjects that you may select for an alert. Double-click an individual subject or use the blue arrow buttons to move it to or from your Selected Subjects. Once you have selected your subjects of interest, click the Submit button to save. You'll now receive a weekly email listing all the new books and reviews added to SBL Central in your selected subjects, with links to book pages. If you are interested in volunteering to review for RBL, this is a great way to be updated on books newly available for review (scroll to the bottom of any book page to see if it's available). We will continue to send the weekly RBL newsletter announcing all reviews published in the past week. SBL Central book notifications complement the RBL newsletter by alerting you as soon as new books are added to the site and by allowing you to choose your own subjects of interest.”

(k) JSTOR

News!: “JSTOR and participating publishers are making an expanded set of content freely available to help during the ongoing crisis.

We soon expect more developments for Portuguese, Korean, and Mandarin Chinese. For Chinese, talks are held with the Center for Judaic and Inter-religious Studies at Shandong University. For Portuguese, talks are held with Portuguese Jesuits' Communication Office. Stay tuned for more developments!

(o) PLEASE PASS ON THE INFORMATION

If someone you know anyone has been asking for a quick introduction to the work of the ICI Committee, feel free to direct them to this brief SBL Member Spotlight interview: <https://www.sbl-site.org/membership/MemberSpotlight.aspx>

Please share this newsletter with your colleagues and students and become a liaison for your institution and SBL. (Please contact our liaison officer, Jackie du Toit, if you would like to assist as contact person in your region.) Your advocacy for ICI strengthens biblical studies as a discipline and builds relationships in the global community. Thank you to those who have done so in the past—we also receive letters from people who received the newsletter from someone else.

Thank you for your ongoing interest and support!
